We keep things simple

Organising any exhibition is stressful enough, so who needs the additional worry of whether their showcases will be the right specification and right on time too?

Those who know what counts, count on Armour Systems the showcase brand of CXD. They know that, for 35 years, our superbly designed and engineered museum showcases have been the cornerstone of hundreds of successful exhibitions.

They also know that our first-class manufacturing pedigree is matched by a first-class, 'can-do' attitude service ethic. From first conversation to final installation CXD's team working on Armour Systems showcases are committed to making success as straightforward as possible.

We love a challenge and consistently find innovative ways to make seemingly complicated projects simple. CXD specifically the Armour Systems showcases team... working closely with you to make success, pain-free.
